Human Nature - Bug #107

Bug # 105 (New): authoritarianism

authoritarian leaderism

05/17/2018 12:13 AM - Woozle Hypertwin

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Status: | New | | Start date: | 05/16/2018 |
| Priority: | Normal | | Due date: | |
| Assignee: | | | % Done: | 0% |
| Category: | | | Estimated time: | 0.00 hour |
| Target version: | | | Spent time: | 0.00 hour |

Description

There are humans who are willing to do whatever is necessary in order to exploit authoritarian followerism (issue #101) in order to gain power, regardless of the harm they may do in the process.

(Note the distinction between good leadership and authoritarian leadership: the primary concern in the former is benefit or harm to those being led, while in the latter it's maintaining the power-structure.)